Welcome to Pension Review, a newsletter for RPF members and pensioners concerned about the performance and value of their pension fund

If you are a member of Reuters Pension Fund then, like me, you are probably concerned about its recent performance and how this affects the future of your pension.

Quite a few of us are concerned, so we have formed a group to see what can be done to improve the position. It is called the Pension Review Group (PRG).

As you can see from the list on the left, we've got quite a bit of expertise, some of it directly relevant to the subject.

This newsletter will be sent to you on an occasional basis whenever we have something to say which we think will be of interest to you as an RPF member, whether you are still working, have a deferred pension or are retired.

Tell us if there is anything you want to share so that we can include your views in future issues. We want to reach as many members as we can so please get in touch with former colleagues and let us have their contact details.

All contacts should be to the Pension Review e-mail address:

rpf04@hotmail.com.

Over the last few years many of us have written to the Company and Trustees on the various pensions issues that confront us, often only to receive negative or unhelpful responses. We will be publishing some extracts from this correspondence in future issues so that everyone is aware of the Company's position.

We need to harness our individual energies together so that we can speak with a united voice.

John Freeman

Chairman

Pension Review Group

• PRG Principles •

- To provide a forum for members and pensioners of Reuters Pension Fund for the exchange of views and opinions on the development and management of RPF.
- To keep under review the management of the Fund by the Managing Committee and Trustees.
- To ensure that the Company meets both its financial and moral obligations to members and pensioners of the Fund.
- To seek the re-introduction of discretionary pension increases.
- To monitor the actions of the Managing Committee, Trustees and Company against the Reuters Trust Principles.
- To send comments collectively and individually on RPF to the Managing Committee, Trustees and Company.
- To exchange views, opinions and information with other groups, bodies and regulatory organisations on specific and general pensions issues.
- To seek meetings with the Managing Committee, Trustees and the Company as and when considered necessary.

Pension Review is produced by the Pension Review Group of former employees of Reuters who are concerned about the performance and value of their pension fund.
